Who Can Sponsor a Relative?

To be eligible to sponsor a relative to immigrate to the United States:

- You must document you are a citizen or a lawful permanent resident of the United States.
- You must prove that you can support your relative by documenting your income is at least 125% above the U.S. poverty level for your household size, including all sponsored family members. (This process is known as the I-864 Affidavit of Support.)
- US Citizens may petition for the following foreign national relatives to immigrate to the United States:
 - Husband or wife;
 - Unmarried child under 21 years old;
 - Unmarried son or daughter over 21;
 - Married son or daughter of any age;
 - Brother or sister, if you are at least 21 years old; or
 - Parent, if you are at least 21 years old
- Lawful Permanent Residents may petition for the following foreign national relatives to immigrate to the United States:
 - Husband or wife; or
 - Unmarried son or daughter of any age
